Loli

Loli is a sports bottle created by Elite, an Italian company that specialises in cycling products. The bottle is made from and BPA-free plastic therefore making it suitable for contact with food in compliance with European CE and American FDA standards. Loli is also available in a compostable version thanks to the addition of an additive in the formulation of the material. This makes it biodegradable if disposed of in environments suitable for organic decomposition. The bottle has an extremely practical cap with push-pull valve and an indented section in the upper part of the body, designed to provide a comfortable and secure grip. It's perfect for sports and outdoor use because it's light and resistant, as well as being easy to wash and dishwasher safe. Loli is available in two capacities: 600ml and 800ml. In white it can be customised with digital printing on the entire surface. Black bottles can be customised using silk-screen printing up to a maximum of 4 colours. Both versions are perfect for graphics with a high visual impact.
